INTRODUCTION TO THE ALBUM

Nikos Ignatiadis is one of the most well known composers from Greece. His music has been performed by world renowned artists such as Natili Cole, Charles Aznavour, Albano & Romina Power, Glenn Medeiros, Berdien Stenberg, Marco Bakker, Madeline Bell to name a few. In 1988, Nikos' first solo album was released. "The Olympous Symphony" on which, he played piano with the Metropole Orchestra. In 1991 Nikos released his second album "Still in love with you". Both albums were very popular worldwide. 1996 saw the release of his third CD "Portrait". This third album presents all new compositions from Nikos plus four medleys of popular melodies from Spain, Italy, France and Greece. In 1997 an album was released from Nikos featuring a duet wit Nana Maskouri and Julio Iglesias. During the same year Nikos released another disc which was proclaimed to be his best yet. The following year saw Englebert Humperdink sue one of Nikos' compositions titled,"Something's breaking".

Francis Goya

Throughout his career, Francis Goya has recorded at least one album between tours, to arrive at the grand total of 40, for which most will become Gold or Platinum. He has made 2 worldwide tours. That is followed by a number of invitations in Thailand (1989 & 1992), Finland (1991 & 1992), Canary Islands and the Netherlands in 1994. Since 1995 until 1999, Francis has recorded another four new CD's. For new Millennium, Francis Goya and Richard Clayderman, recorded a new Album: "Together" . This will receive worldwide distribution. In April 2000 Francis gave a few exclusive concerts at the City Hall in Tallin (Estonia). A major tour is foreseen for April 2001in the Baltic countries including St Petersburg etc.
